

INU5101 – WRITTEN E.T – PRACTICE

Part 1: Listening

1. Audio 1: Number the events - Write the numbers 1 to 6 next to the events in the order they happen on the tour.

Order	Event
	The guide explains how the bell tower helped sailors
	The guide welcomes the group to St. Philip's Cathedral
	The group plans to walk through the Historic District
	Tourists are advised to bring water
	Visitors will have free time at the City Market and the Old Exchange Building
	The group enters the cathedral to begin the visit

2. Audio 2: Number the events - Write the numbers 1 to 6 next to the events in the order they happen on the tour.

Order	Event
	The group starts exploring the market
	The guide talks about the famous “fish toss” tradition
	Tourists are told they may need a jacket
	The tour begins at Pike Place Market
	The guide mentions the Aquarium and afternoon attractions
	The group walks to the waterfront later in the morning

3. Audio 3: You will listen to five short conversations. For each conversation, complete the sentences provided with a letter from the box below. There's one extra option you don't need to use.

a. A package	b. Buy some snacks	c. Stuck in traffic	d. Dealing with inconveniences
e. Buy some tickets	f. Try on a shirt	g. An appointment

Conversation 1

The woman is going to _____ while waiting for the movie to start.

Conversation 2

The man is upset because he is _____.

Conversation 3

The woman is expecting _____.

Conversation 4

The man wants to stay at the store to _____.

Conversation 5

Mr. Brown is at the office because he has _____.

All Conversations

In all the conversations, a common theme is people _____.

4. Audio 4: You will listen to five short conversations. For each conversation, complete the sentences provided with a letter from the box below. There's one extra option you don't need to use.

a. Dealing with small problems	b. Complaining about traffic	c. Pick up a delivery	d. Wait for a fitting room
e. Checking in for a medical appointment	f. Buy food at the cinema	g. Talking about prices

Conversation 1

The woman decides to _____ while the movie previews continue.

Conversation 2

The man is _____ because the car is not moving.

Conversation 3

Frida García is at the desk to _____.

Conversation 4

The woman stays in the store because she wants to _____.

Conversation 5

Mr. Thompson is speaking with the receptionist because he is _____.

All Conversations

In all five conversations, people are _____.

Part II: Reading Comprehension

1. Read the text about an innovative cinema experience and answer the questions about it.

For many years, the Dream Film Festival in Denmark has created unusual and exciting movie experiences. The organizers are very creative and open-minded. Last year, they agreed to show a movie that lasted almost 20 hours. The director, Lina Sorensen, also asked if she could design a small “dream theater” where guests could sleep while watching the movie. The organizers said, “No problem.”

The Dream Theater has ten small beds in front of a large round screen. The beds are on platforms, so guests feel like they are floating in the air. If they wake up during the night, they can watch parts of the movie and then go back to sleep. The film includes quiet music, ocean sounds, and the voices of small birds. All the sounds were recorded in Lina’s home country, Norway.

Lina says she often falls asleep during movies and believes the best theater is inside your mind. She is interested in what people imagine when they sleep, especially their dreams. In the Dream Theater, there is also a dream book where guests can write about their dreams. Many visitors said they slept very well in the cinema.

- a) What are the Dream Film Festival organizers like?
- b) What does the Dream Theater have in common with other hotels?
- c) What country is Lina Sorensen from?
- d) According to Lina, where is the best theater?
- e) Do you think sleeping in a cinema is a good idea? Why or why not?

2. Read the email below and answer the questions by choosing the correct option.

From: Laura Williams – laura.williams@companymail.com

To: All staff

Subject: Weekend Plans & Team Activities

Dear team,

I hope you're having a good week. I'm writing to check in and ask about your plans for this weekend. First, (1.) how was your weekend? Did you do anything interesting?

For this Saturday, I'm considering arranging a casual meet-up with a few coworkers so we can talk about our upcoming project outside the office in a more relaxed environment. I think it would be a nice opportunity to share ideas. (2.) Would you be free to join us?

Also, I've been searching for a good restaurant for a future team lunch. (3.) Have you tried any good places recently? The one we chose last semester wasn't very good.

On another note, (4.) how do you usually like to spend your free time? I'm curious whether you prefer calmer activities or something more energetic.

Finally, (5.) what are your plans for the next holiday? I'd love to hear if you have anything special in mind.

Looking forward to your answers!

Best regards,
 Laura Williams
 Project Manager

1. Why is Laura writing this email?
A) To ask workers to submit a report	B) To check their weekend and future availability	C) To announce a new project deadline	D) To invite them to a company-wide conference
2. What does Laura plan for this Saturday?
A) A formal meeting in the office	B) A team-building online workshop	C) A relaxed gathering outside the office	D) A lunch with the company directors
3. Why is Laura asking about restaurants?
A) She wants ideas for a team lunch	B) She wants to cook a meal herself	C) She needs a place for a family reunion	D) She is reviewing restaurants for a blog
4. What does Laura want to know about her coworkers' free time?
A) If they study during weekends	B) Whether they prefer quiet or active activities	C) How many vacations they take per year	D) If they like to do sports every day
5. What problem did the previous restaurant have?
A) It was too expensive	B) It didn't meet their expectations	C) It was closed for renovation	D) It was too far from the office
6. Who is Laura in the company?
A) The head of finance	B) A new intern	C) The project manager	D) The human resources assistant

Part 3: Writing

Directions:

- Read the email on page 4 and reply to Laura by answering the five questions she asks in her message.
- Your response must contain at least 80 words.
- Make sure to use the grammar and vocabulary studied in this course.